

BREEZY CATSKILL HEIGHTS AND HOLLOW

LOCK FALLS, CALO.

PHOTO BY WAJENIE

BROAD STREET CATSKILL.

MIDSUMMER IN NEIGHBORING WATERS.

SOCIETY RESTING IN OYSTER BAY

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Saturday.—Heavy rains and damp, chilly weather placed an embargo on all contemplated outdoor sports and social functions this week. The evenings have been cool enough to force the summer colonists to resort to wraps.

BUSY LINKS ON SHELTER ISLAND

SHELTER ISLAND, N. Y., Saturday.—August is a busy month here. Social gatherings, dinners, luncheons, teas, concerts and formal entertainments follow one another in rapid succession.

Recent arrivals at the Pequot House

Recent arrivals at the Pequot House from New York are Mrs. J. B. Haddock, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Gray, R. R. Manners, R. T. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Tolmer, and Mrs. J. B. Haddock.

AUSTIN'S GLEN

PHOTO BY WAJENIE

Sunshine Brings Thousands to the Beautiful Catskill Mountain Resorts--Rain Gave Golfers a Rest.

STAMFORD, N. Y., Saturday.—This week has dampened the ardor of the golf and tennis enthusiasts, but pinocle, euchre and whist players have had a glorious time at the hotels here.

Stamford is having a prosperous season in spite of the elements. Churchill Hall is crowded. Among the latest comers are the following New Yorkers—Richard Butler, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Woods, L. N. Cutler, Mrs. H. Knobel, Mrs. W. E. Cox, Mrs. M. L. Rickerson and son, Nelson S. Rickerson and Mrs. A. J. Mabler.

Recent New York arrivals include—In the West—Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Sutton, Mrs. Thomas Andrews, Mrs. Ploya Vail and family, Miss N. R. Madigan, John Dunne, Mrs. C. B. Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fleming and son, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brewster, Colonel and Mrs. F. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dithridge, L. E. Lyman and James Lyman.

Greyhound Inn—Miss D. M. Hughes, Miss M. H. Williams, the Misses Williams, Thomas Dennison and Miss Clara Dennison.

New Grant House—Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Krim, the Misses Krim, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cummings, Miss Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Williams, Miss E. Woolsey, W. B. Dennison, M. G. Dugan, J. M. Dugan, George D. Bangs, Mrs. George C. Stevens and Mrs. M. Maltz.

Miss Helen Miller Gould is at Kirkside, her summer home, at Roxbury, and will depart August 28.

Pine Hill for attractiveness has no superior among the Catskill resorts and the season there has been very successful. The Cornish House, the leading hotel, is packed. Among its patrons are the following New Yorkers—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davidson, L. S. Kallis, Oscar Bernstein, B. Brande, Lawrence Miller, W. Schlessinger and family, Samuel Peck and Max Hart.

Miss Alice Brown, of Birmingham, Ala., is at the Cornish House.

New York arrivals at the Alpine this week include—Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stern, Miss Nora C. Hanlon, Mrs. M. A. Schley, Miss Lottie Schley, E. N. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Annesley De Lee Smith, Miss Frances L. Conboy and Miss L. L. Smith.

The Europa, a New York patron is Miss Emily Schutt, Miss Helen Schutt, Mrs. H. Fisher and family, Mrs. O. Fisher, B. Rosenheim, J. Foster, Mrs. D. J. Marks and son, the Misses Leberkind, Mrs. D. Kohlman, Mrs. S. Gaisman and Mrs. M. L. Cohen.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Goodman, Mrs. S. Bodenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bodenheimer and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rosenberg and family, Mrs. O. Oppenheim, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pickard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Werner, Mrs. F. Blum, Miss Genevieve Blum, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hochster and Mr. and Mrs. E. Moch, of New York are at the Cockburn House, Mount Pleasant.

At the Osmer Villa, in North Branch, a charming spot on the southwestern fringe of the Catskills, the following New Yorkers arrived this week—Mrs. D. J. Marks, Mrs. O. Oppenheim, Mrs. Gertrude Polz, Mary Lenz, Mr. C. Fausel, Mrs. Martin Perry, Mr. Andrew Buge and the Misses Augusta and Lillian Seibold.

DELIGHTS OF THE UPPER ST. REGIS

UPPER ST. REGIS, N. Y., Saturday.—Among the matchless loveliness of the Adirondacks the Upper St. Regis is unique, for in addition to its natural beauty, which in many respects is superior to any lake of the mountains, its shores are completely lined with the elaborate camps of metropolitan millionaires.

The term "camp" is, however, very largely a misnomer, for although some of the more conservative owners have endeavored to preserve the tradition of the woods by erecting structures whose outward appearance at all events suggests the evolution of the tent, the wigwam and the flimsy of sylvan conventionalities by every conceivable kind of architectural luncheon.

The term "camp" is, however, very largely a misnomer, for although some of the more conservative owners have endeavored to preserve the tradition of the woods by erecting structures whose outward appearance at all events suggests the evolution of the tent, the wigwam and the flimsy of sylvan conventionalities by every conceivable kind of architectural luncheon.

From Harlem one has only to cross the lake to get a realistic glimpse of Japan, for on the opposite shore all of the buildings are of one of the largest camps are Japanese, designed by Japanese architects and constructed by Japanese laborers. One can forget the innovation because of its novelty and its beauty. Some of the buildings are decorated in glaring colors, but they blend well with the deep green of the forest foliage. One accustomed to the Adirondack architecture in winter, wonders how the Japanese resort, with their turned-up corners, will shed snow; but it snows in Japan, does it not?

Despite these and other heresies in woodland architecture, the shores of the lake are wonderfully beautiful, whether seen under the glare of the summer sun or at night, when the camps are draped with innumerable and many colored lights.

To those who delight in the summer gayeties of a Newport or a Bar Harbor the pleasures of the campers on the Upper St. Regis would have little charm. Everything tends toward simplicity. Canoeing, tennis, picnics on the shores of the neighboring lakes, trips across the "nine cars" to Saranac Inn or up the St. Regis Mountain occurred a little this year by the forest fires, fishing and bathing are the prevailing pleasures. Formal dinners are infrequent, and balls are as rare as clear "there is no excess in anything save yachts racing. This in recent years has grown into a delirium. Under the auspices of the St. Regis Yacht Club three cups are put up for the summer season, and, as nearly everybody wins some of the races, and as the "mugs" are very largely simple in design and uniform in character, the dining rooms of many of the yachtsmen look like barber shops done in silver.

Sunday on the Upper St. Regis is not what one imagines at a fashionable watering place. It is in reality a day of rest and worship. The ordinary everyday pursuits are very largely abandoned. In the morning a procession of boats, canoes and launches winds its way—gathering constant increments as it advances—through the Upper St. Regis, stopping, the Lower St. Regis and the "Slue," to the beautiful log church of St. John's, in the wilderness near Paul Smith's Hotel.

It is difficult to imagine a more beautiful sight than that fleet of small boats, each flying the colors of its camp, and with oars and paddles flashing in the light of the noonday sun, winding its way back to the Upper St. Regis.

In the evening when the skies are clear, canoists issue silently from the different camps, and, meeting at a certain rendezvous, they lock paddles and join in singing familiar hymns, while St. Regis Mountain looms up like a great altar in a cathedral whose dome is studded thick with stars.

BAL POUDE IN GREENBRIER SPRINGS

GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Va., Saturday.—It would seem as if the high water mark of gaiety had been reached here this week, although August has just set in, and the indications are that the pace set now will be kept up for several weeks.

The first morning German was danced on Thursday, and was one of the prettiest ever given here. The young men were the hosts of the occasion, Mr. Boswell, of Virginia, who has quite a reputation as a leader of cotillions, was in charge of the fifty couples.

The great event of the week was the ball, given by the ladies on Friday night. Preparations for this event had been made on a more extensive scale than formerly, and the result was most gratifying, for even at the old White no more beautiful ball was ever given. The old colonial ball room, which, by the way, is the largest in the country, was especially decorated, and after the grand march, which was led by Judge and Mrs. Rogers, A. Pryor, of New York, the chaperons took their places at the end of the room and received the guests.

The opening dance was the Riley, a graceful dance, which has become a feature of every ball at the White for many years. A supper was served at midnight and the dancing continued until a late hour.

Card parties are more in vogue than ever here this summer. In addition to the six handed euchre parties, bridge has quite taken the place. Among the recent hostesses at card parties were Mrs. Walter Langdon Elsie and Miss Tyler, of Philadelphia; Mrs. E. P. Sands, of Washington, Ky.; and Mrs. George Goddard, of St. Louis.

Colonel and Mrs. William Cotton, of New York, entertained at a handsome supper in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Burleigh, of New York.

Mrs. John P. Richardson, of New Orleans, also entertained a supper party after the dance this week.

AFTER THE CUPS IN SPRING LAKE

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Saturday.—The center of interest during the week has been the Casino tennis court, where the annual tournament for a handsome silver loving cup was held. Such expert players as Joseph Swain, of Bristol, Pa., who won the tournament last year, and Harry Flinn and Robert Nelson took part.

A silver loving cup has been offered for the person who makes the highest score on the Casino Bowling Alley this week. The record is now 275, made by John Gay, and Harry Flinn, of New York, stands second, with 22.

To-night a Japanese entertainment was given at the Palmer House by the patrons in aid of a charity. A dinner was given to-night by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rolin, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fayette R. Plumb, of New York, who is spending a few weeks here at the great of St. Louis. Miss Christine Wells has returned from Magnolia, Mass.

Arrivals at the hotels from New York include—Wilburton by the Sea—F. L. Barr, E. H. Fodrick, Miss A. Galloway, Mrs. J. F. Matthews and family, G. L. Farnestock, John M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Matthews, Miss Matthews, George H. Stevenson, H. W. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Primrose.

Breakers—S. L. Allen, Franklin Huce, George L. Mitchell, E. R. Johnston, P. H. Downer, Charles De Vaux, George M. Raymond, Mrs. H. P. Ashton, Harriett Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Knapp, Walter See and Mr. and Mrs. D. Mumm.

Allure—Wilson S. Loughbridge, Mr. and Mrs. William G. O'Donoghue, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Storm, T. Perrine Hilton, W. H. Acken, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Long, Miss Long, B. J. Hart and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Perry.

Colonial—F. W. Sandford, H. R. Lleyven and F. A. Fowle.

Ruskin—W. H. Fletcher, C. Loveland, C. Russell, Elizabeth Foster and M. A. Williams.

Palmer—Mrs. A. Bleyer, D. Lowenwald, James K. Floyd and Miss Floyd.

and a fire on the hearth was necessary to comfort.

This season at Oyster Bay will go on record as being an unusually quiet one from a social standpoint. Members of the President's family, who are enjoying a season of absolute rest, she has presented a handkerchief to the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church for the use of its fair, to be held next Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Roosevelt also sent to the Augustine Dowden, of Babylon, L. I., for the fair of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church twelve large photographs of scenes in Lisbon.

The President and his sons, Theodore, Jr., Kermit and Archie, are devoting much time to horseback riding this season. The President's sons and their cousins, the Emilen Roosevelt and Mrs. J. West Roosevelt families are much together. The young Roosevelts form an inspiring little cavalcade when they pass through the village. Frequently the President rides at the head of the youthful equestrians in their canterings through the nearby hamlets. The boys sit their horses well and are absolutely indifferent to idle curiosity. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., generally heads the cavalcade.

number of interesting events announced number of interesting events announced among them the women's regatta, on August 22, and the fifth special regatta, of the 23rd. Seven cups have been presented besides the club trophies. The donors are Commodore James Weir, Jr., Rear Commodore John W. Weber, Fleet Surgeon George F. Little, Percy L. Maxwell, G. Trowbridge Hollis, Oscar B. Weber and Andrew O. Baucker.

At the Minnahan House are Frederick W. Chamberlain, L. H. Souder, Jr., Mrs. J. A. Robertson, Ralph S. L. Foy, F. Hawks, B. H. Waters, N. P. Norton, R. C. Mitchell, W. Johnson, William E. Peck, S. M. Butler, R. L. Crow, C. H. Smith, Mrs. Henry Williams, J. H. Williams, W. Tonnelle and E. Wright, New York, J. B. Moffit, G. A. Stockett, J. S. Donaldson, E. Walter, John H. Stewart, Mrs. R. Rowley Baker and Miss Baker, Philadelphia; Mrs. Henry Williams, J. H. Williams, Baltimore; James and Mason L. Williams, Baltimore; E. C. Palmer, Jr., R. M. Rogers and Mrs. Frances Taurer, Chicago; N. A. Gibb, Norwich, Conn.; E. C. Seward, Mount Clair, Md.; H. W. Cole, Mrs. Edward Elmore Kane, Miss Gertrude Kane, Detroit, W. F. Gill, Philadelphia; Frank C. D. Williams, Miss Grace Marco, C. W. Baker, Charles Carry, New York; Guy Swanson, A. Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. Gould Swan, Mrs. H. C. Ostrander, Miss Ostrander, Burlington.

THE DANCES AT THE MEADOW CLUB

THE DANCES AT THE MEADOW CLUB on Friday evening and at Mecon Inn on Saturday evening will probably be the best attended and most brilliant of the season.

There will be bicycle polo matches on Monday and Friday. The Mecon Bay Yacht Club will hold a race on Saturday and the Southampton Hills Golf Club will hold a tournament on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Clark, Jr., who have recently returned here from Europe, will shortly leave for Cedarhurst, L. I., where they will reside for the season. They have recently returned here from Europe, will shortly leave for Cedarhurst, L. I., where they will reside for the season. They have recently returned here from Europe, will shortly leave for Cedarhurst, L. I., where they will reside for the season.

SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Saturday.—This has been a week of activity. The principal interest to which all others have been subservient has been that of the season's first charitable organizations by means of social functions, to which admissions have been sold at a high price, and which have in all ways been rendered as remunerative as possible by the unselfish devotion of many energetic spirits, particularly some of the most prominent women of the cottage colony.

The most important event of this kind held on Thursday afternoon at the Orchard, the residence of Mrs. James Lawrence, was the bridge whist and euchre party. Tickets sold for five dollars each, and a large sum of money was raised for the Southampton Fresh Air Home.

Those who had most to do with making the tournament a success were, besides Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Albert E. Boardman, Mrs. Henry B. Barnes, Mrs. Henry E. Goer, Mrs. William Allen Butler, Mrs. Arthur B. Turner, Mrs. George A. Dixon, Mrs. Alfred R. Conklin, Mrs. Charles G. Thomas, Mrs. Seymour Crawford, Mrs. Thomas G. Caldwell, Mrs. Harry W. McVicker, Miss H. L. Parrish, Mrs. Newbold Edgar, Mrs. Charles H. Godfrey, Mrs. Arthur Mason Jones, Mrs. Edward W. Humphreys, Mrs. Frederic H. Bate, Mrs. William C. Sullivan, Mrs. Thomas H. Barber, Mrs. Charles S. Brown, Mrs. Miss Leroy and Mrs. Charles T. Barney.

The tableaux vivants held at the Meadow Club last night, besides being an exceedingly enjoyable social affair, netted a nice little sum for St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, thanks to the hearty co-operation of all who took part.

Three automobilists have lately been arrested for violating the speed limit of four miles an hour while crossing narrow drives at East Neck.

During the coming week the event of absorbing interest will be the invitation tennis tournament, which opens at the Meadow Club grounds on Monday. The best players of America and England will participate. Many visitors will come here specially to see this tournament and many social evenings will be held on account of the visitors.

Over six hundred people are at the Hotel Knickerbocker and more are arriving each day. Among the recent arrivals are Rudolph Gross, Harry Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. D. Meyer, Miss A. Meyer, Miss Alice A. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. W. Phillips, Mrs. A. Stereobach, Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Dessar, Miss Constance Dessar, Miss Amy Dessar, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wellier, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rosebush, Albert Gooding, William Lauterbach, Adolph Forstheim, Miss Lucille Gross, Mrs. Dora Gross, Mrs. D. E. Simon, Mrs. L. Kaufmann, Mr. and Mrs. S. Wellier, of New York.

Recent arrivals from New York at the Catskill Mountain House are Dr. and Mrs. J. Rosenbaum, Eugene Rosenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. J. Schwab, R. Homan, Mrs. Reinecker, Miss Helen Reinecker, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Walsh, Mrs. R. W. Lawrence, Miss Moser, D. Fisher, Theo-

Recent arrivals from New York at the Catskill Mountain House are Dr. and Mrs. J. Rosenbaum, Eugene Rosenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. J. Schwab, R. Homan, Mrs. Reinecker, Miss Helen Reinecker, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Walsh, Mrs. R. W. Lawrence, Miss Moser, D. Fisher, Theo-